Benefits of the Course
Insights into the practical experience of trainers and case studies in multiple forms of mediation and related approaches in various contexts

High diversity of teaching methods: exercises with sample cases from the participants’ personal experiences, real-life
Depending on the level of societal concern, cultural diversity, and complexity of a conflict, actors on different political levels (often called ‘tracks’) may have various approaches. This course embraces the complementarities of multiple tracks and promotes mediative efforts on all levels. Together the diversity of approaches creates an added value to the overall conflict transformation process. The course will look at the various tracks and the linkages among them to support sustainable peace.

Mediation is not only a process but more importantly an intrinsic approach and attitude that expresses itself within every action. The course didactics are based on three interwoven components:

» Knowledge about methods and techniques for dialogue and mediation
» Context analysis / process design / strategic considerations
» Self-reflexion of the mediator as an essential factor for successful mediation.

The course addresses individuals that presently or in the future work in the areas of public or private diplomacy, development cooperation, humanitarian aid, civilian conflict resolution, and peacebuilding as well as those who want to expand their knowledge and skills in conflict transformation.

For others who wish to acquire a new and self-contained career perspective as mediator, this course fulfills the requirements of the main component of the 200-hour certification of the German Federal Association of Mediation.

Optional module: Mediation and Law
In contrast to the other modules, this additional 4-day-seminar focuses on the legal and institutional frameworks for mediation, particularly in Germany. It complements the training in order to fulfil the requirements of the German mediation act, for those who want to practice in Germany, using the title ‘certified mediator’. Upon request, international and peace dimensions of “mediation and law” can be an additional focus of this module.

Contents:
» Legal framework for mediation in Germany and other countries
» Provisions of the German Mediation Act
» How to deal with legal aspects in mediation?
» Institutional framework for mediation in Germany
» Case-supervision
» Optional: court-annex mediation in the context of peacebuilding and rule of law

Dates: 14 - 17 January 2020
Costs: 840€ (10% early bird discount until 1st July 2019)
Depending on the number of participants, this training will be run with one or two trainers.
Trainers

Christoph Luettmann (CSSP)
Peace mediator, trainer and facilitator specialised on inter-community and political processes in transitional and conflict-affected regions. With a background in Political Science and Public Law he previously worked for the United Nations, the “Research Center 700 - Governance in Limited Statehood” and the Center for International Peace Operations (ZIP) in Berlin. Christoph is the managing director of CSSP and realised various mediation processes in the regions of the Western Balkan, South Asia, and Eastern Europe, for example “direct” facilitation of dialogue and mediation processes with groups in conflict, mediation support for insider mediators and international organisations, mediation in the context of access to justice and reduction of case-backloads in courts, support to state actors on regional dialogue as well as legal frameworks for mediation.
